Yes, everyone will build or repair a house at least once in their life. And in order not to become confused and passive at that time, remember to download this Planner 5D home design application to use it right when you need it. Introduce about Planner 5D House Design & Interior room sketchup Because everyone builds a house and repairs a house Sometimes you may need a home design application. You want to create a house drawing easily and quickly or want something to better express the idea when talking with the architect. Or sometimes you don't want to spend a lot of money on design because you only fix a small area of the house. Or you want to see what the house will look like when it has furniture. Even if you are a professional architect, this quick and convenient application will help you sketch out what you have in mind about a certain building before you directly draw in detail on paper... And Planner 5D will help you to do these... What does Planner 5D do for you? Planner 5D is a home design application that helps you create layouts, interior and exterior designs exactly as you want with high realism, both in 2D and 3D perspectives. You can also use Planner 5D to check the aesthetic and color suitability of different materials, interior and exterior decorations. And not just a house but can be any other construction, from small to large. Design home with only 3 feature steps Using Planner 5D, you hardly need any special expertise. Just know what you want, what you need for your home. The first function I want to talk about is also the main use of Planner 5D. When you download Planner 5D, you can quickly design your home with just three steps on the app. Step 1: Create layout and design. Step 2: Use 2D mode to create floor plans and design layouts with furniture and some other basic items. Step 3: Switch to 3D mode to continue to dive into the layouts and edit details on the drawing from many different angles. Each of these steps is easily done with the corresponding features available in the application. Once the layout, design, and drawings are completed, the next important thing is to choose the right material for each area. In Planner 5D, you can choose from a library of hundreds of different materials to try out for each area of your design. You can look, balance, edit colors, textures, and roughness of walls, ceilings, floors, large corners... to complete one more step in the detailed design of the house. This material selection step is also extremely useful if you are considering costs. Each material has a corresponding different price. When selecting material, you can consult more contractors or building material suppliers to get the best choice of price. Or you can do the opposite, check the price first and then go back to the corresponding material on Planner 5D to see if it turns out to be as beautiful as you want it to be. There is a huge warehouse of interior and exterior for you to try With a store of more than 4000 different items constantly being updated every day, you are sure to choose the most detailed and satisfactory furniture for your home. Mix colors, change shapes, sizes, textures, materials... You can do whatever you want to customize the interior. This will be your platform to order the right items for your home, or you can hire an interior contractor to make a range of interiors like the ones you choose. After you get the best space, use the Snapshots feature of Planner 5D to save each design part. These images are very realistic and sharp with additional shadow effects, automatic light, and color adjustment. Or they can come with manual adjustment from the included filters available to create an artistic photo for your house. It will bring you many motivations before you start building.
